Father Barkleaf

By Calvin Robinson

am not at all prepared for scheduled total eclipse of March 7. Nor am I going to hang around for that one, scheduled for the 8th. They say the heavenly show will begin at 12:16:44.9 Meridian, reach maximum at 12:18:4 and the all clear sounds at 2:49:58.3. So most of us, but my watch is not good for such precision work and I am not prepared to risk my vision by looking while experts have scared the daylights out of us by warning that you might need a see-eye dog if you dast look. I think there will be many of us Toms. In the Bible Adam's wife could not resist looking. Twice in my life I have been warned about looking. First time was when I was a small boy and my late mother took me to the old Wells Theatre in Norfolk, to see our first motion movie. When the hero and heroine clinched in the final scene and started kissing, I made me turn around and look the other way. I contend that I peeped. A few years later viewing the Grand Canyon from the fabulous Grand Canyon we were told the colors were so vivid it was best to look around and look into a mirror reflected view. I peeped and beheld Brightleaf and I took a quick picture of her on her hands and knees crawling out to the edge of the Canyon to peep into the Colorodo River a mile below. To peep or not to peep March 7 is up to you. Personally, I have a hunch the Weather Man will arrange an overcast sky and our worst fears will not materialize.

I am against my scruples to [illegible] reputation of a lady's age, but am offering my sincere congratulations to my friend, Mrs. Callie Robertson, Atwood Plantation, for her 88th birthday. I will not admit that I envy her age. Heavens to Betsy, she is younger at 88 than I am by, I am proud to call her friend, and I will tell you a secret . . . she makes the best pear preserves I have ever tasted. I should know, for I have her list.

I made a preliminary survey around and about and the only matter is that we have no chores set out for us during Cleaning Time. Includes No. 205 Martha and I peep out the window and that it will take a sassy gal to overcome the evils of Winter. Also, some elbow grease.

Browsing among some old books I came upon a 1920 Record, and the picture was a street scene in downtown Appomatox. Truth to tell the matter is that it looked rather good, I was not here in person but anything about Appomattox looks good to me. Some had "tin lizzies" at the railroad crossing and it was labeled "business section." Let us sing: Let's go up and benlines! Let's go, but Appomattox is a good business town.

I wish I had a look-see at the 1958 issue of Hobbies magazine which had a letter to the editor about "A Business at Appomattox." I'd love to know about the famous Apple Trees.

Thanks to those who have written in. Especially with that about "And I had but fifty cents." Even had an overseas cent. And I was really shook up by the clipping of a curious grocery store adv. saying they would deliver and have charge accounts. And the clipping says: "You can buy sheep many times, but only skin him once," If you are interested, I have a stubborn decision: I let grow long sideburns and my hair dangle around my neck the heros of history did so had a better excuse than The bell is tolling, so I sign off by making a bee-line here by the typewriter to [illegible] indeed have a date this week and as any teen-ager knows, it is unforgiveable to break a date.

Get The Message?

Motorists will soon be seeing this reminder about open air fires on all major roads in the county as Chief Fire Warden David M. Smith advises everyone that from now until May 15 open air fires within 300 feet of woodland or hazardous areas leading to woodland, are prohibited except between 4 o'clock in the afternoon and 12 o'clock midnight. Smith says that using "common sense" in buring will help to preserve all the pine seedlings being planted in the county. And for those who want to order seedlings, too, that other sign on the Div. Forestry truck explains that "enough trees to plant one acre can be bought for less than $5.00." Ask Smith or Warren Taylor, Appomattox County Forester.

Named To Who's Who In Jr. Colleges

The 1969-70 edition of Who's Who Among Students In American Junior Colleges will carry the names of fifteen students from Central Virginia Community College who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders.

Included among them is Charlie Carroll Williamson of Appomattox who expects to receive an associate degree in accounting from CVCC this June. He combines college study with twenty hours work a week at Limiteorge, Lynchburg, plus family life with wife, Nancy, the former Nancy Boney and daughter Lisa, who will be two years old in May. Then there are Jaycees activities and Army Reserve training two Tuesday evenings out of each month plus one Sunday each month. The Williamsons are members of the Appomattox Ct. House Presbyterian Church.

Charlie Carroll's college study began two years ago after a spell of illness that caused him to think about a change of work. He had been employed in the electrical assembly section of Limiteorge. Nancy went back to work for Westinghouse Electric following the arrival of Lisa, and the busy game of juggling schedules began.

Evidently, the Williamsons manage each part of their busy lives very well. Charlie Carroll was elected to Phi Beta Lambda, honorary fraternity at CVCC and is a member of the Marketing Club there also. He is thinking about further study, and his wife is encouraging him, although she does say that at least one section of that diploma in June should be framed especially for her.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual "Who's Who" directory since it was first published in 1966.

Charlie Carroll Williamson and daughter, Lisa

Campus nominating committees and editors have included the names of students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

Williamson joins an elite group of students selected from more than 600 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations in North and South America.

Apple Jelly Sunday

The Appomattox County Jaycees are completing plans for sale of apple jelly this Sunday afternoon. Proceeds from this sale will go toward the purchase and construction of Camp Virginia Jaycee. This camp will provide recreational facilities to Virginia's mentally retarded children. According to figures furnished by the Virginia Association for Mental Health (VAMH) there are approximately 70,000 retarded children in Virginia.

This past week end local Jaycees attended the board of directors meeting of the Virginia Jaycees and voted for approval of the purchase of a site, in Bedford County for a residential camp for mentally retarded children. The campsite consists of 71 acres off U. S. 460 between Bedford and Roanoke. The Jaycees plan facilities for 60 to 70 mentally retarded children who would attend the Camp eight to 10 weeks each summer. Cost of staffing the camp will be assumed by the VAMH, which has worked with the Jaycees in selecting the site.

If by chance you are not contacted this Sunday and do desire to assist the Jaycees in this worthwhile project, please contact G. H. Jamerson Jr., local chairman or any member of the Appomattox Jaycees.

Doctors In New Building

The familiar shingle from their former office has a new coat of paint and Dr. A. A. Fratrick and Dr. J. A. Mathews are ready to hang it in place at the door of their newly built offices on Court Street. Plans are underway for an "open house".

Here are the doctors and staff in the reception area of the new offices of Dr. J. A. Mathews (left) standing with Dr. A. A. Fratrick. With them; Mrs. Tye Bollinger, registered nurse; Mrs. Frank Rogers, receptionist; Mrs. N. R. Moore, receptionist; and Mrs. Robert Lucado, nurse.

Dr. A. A. Fratrick and Dr. J. A. Mathews and their staff moved into their new professional building at Court Street and Virginia Avenue this past week end.

The two story building, designed and constructed by J. E. Sears and Company, features 3000 square feet of beautifully decorated facilities in the ground entrance second story. The first floor will not be completed until a suitable renter is found.

On the ground level, there is a large reception room, business office, nurses station, a complete laboratory, two consultation rooms, six regular examing rooms, two examining cubicles, one X-ray room, and an emergency room, all of which have been furnished with new and modern equipment.

The multi-purpose building is believed to be the only completely electric commercial building in the County.

The exterior is entirely of brick, complimented with features intended to blend with its immediate surroundings and with the historical nature of our town. The attractive, unique, corner lot provides adequate parking facilities among picturesque hardwood trees, which completes the setting for the entire complex.

Office hours for Drs. Mathews and Fratrick will be 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m. week days, 9 to 11:30 a.m. on Saturday and by appointment only on Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

Plans for open house in the near future are being formulated.

The new facilities are an important and attractive asset to the Community. Friends and patients extend congratulations to the physicians for their many achievements, including the completion of this new building.

Convention Method Picked By Fourth District Democrats

The 4th District Democratic Committee voted Saturday to name its party candiates for Congress by the convention method, citing expenses as the reason for avoiding primary elections.

The district convention will be held in Petersburg April 11.

Attending Saturday's meeting was Rep. Watkins M. Abbitt, the district's congressional representative who has announced his intention to seek a 12th term.

State Sen. Garland Gray of Waverly, who presided over the meeting, said he felt voters were tired of so many elections. He said the convention method of selecting the party's candidates would avoid the high cost entailed by a primary race.

Peter Axson, who is also seeking the nomination, called the decision to nominate by convention a "well planned, well staged maneuver."

The Democratic Convention meeting will be held at 2 o'clock on April 11 at Walnut Hill Elementary School, Wakefield Ave., and South Blvd., Petersburg.

Representation of the various cities and counties in the District will be based upon the vote for Watkins M. Abbitt, Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives in the general election of 1968. Each city and county will be allowed one delegate for each 500 votes of a major fraction thereof cast for Rep. Abbitt with a minimum of two votes for each city and county.

In 1968 Rep. Abbitt received 3,612 votes.

New Park Superintendent

The new superintendent of Appomattox Court House National Historical Park, F. Alec Gould and his wife Kristy and three children took time off from unpacking Tuesday to pose for the camera. Supt. Gould brings to his new position a love of history and experience as historian both in Colonial National and Historical Park, Virginia and Fort Donelson National Military Park, Tennessee. It was at Ft. Donelson that "Grant made his nameasa commander", says Supt. Gould. He says that he and his family consider it a privilege to live in Appomattox which is "both beautiful and historic." Daughter Haley, almost 4, stands at the left, son Lee, 2 is perched on the superintendent's knee with daughter Amy, almost 5 at the right.
